FAQ

Q1: What type of wool is best for beginners using this guide?

A1: Nicky Epstein generally recommends using a merino wool roving for beginners. Merino wool is known for its softness, easy felting properties, and availability in a wide range of colors. However, the guide also introduces other fiber options, so exploring different types once you gain confidence is encouraged.

Q2: What tools are essential for completing the projects in this book?

A2: You'll primarily need felting needles (various gauges), a felting mat (to protect your work surface), and merino wool roving. The guide will specify the needle gauge needed for each project, but having a variety on hand is always a good idea. You may also need scissors, and perhaps some additional embellishments depending on the project you select.
