Key Stages in Penyusunan Rencana dan Strategi Pemasaran

The process of developing a comprehensive marketing plan and strategy involves several key stages:

stores, or a combination of both.

- Promotion: Develop a promotional strategy that effectively reaches your target audience. This might include advertising, public relations, social media marketing, content marketing, email marketing, and more. Consider the effectiveness of various saluran pemasaran (marketing channels).

4. Budget Allocation and Resource Management

Creating a realistic marketing budget is crucial. Allocate your resources strategically across different marketing activities based on their potential ROI. Regularly monitor your spending and make adjustments as needed.

5. Implementation, Monitoring, and Evaluation
